

In accordance with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), the buyer has the following rights:

- the right of access to their personal data
- the right to rectification and the right to erasure of their personal data
- the right to restriction of personal data processing
- the right to data portability
- the right to avoid automated decision-making, including profiling
- the right to object personal data processing.